REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A State Convention of delegates representing the Republican party of Wisconsin is hereby called to meet at Madison at 10 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, July 23, A. D., 1879, for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be elected at the next general election and to transact such other business as may be deemed appropriate.

Each Senate and each Assembly district of the State is entitled to two delegates to the Convention.

We also invite the Republicans of the State, and all who are in sympathy with the principles and policy of the Republican party, to attend a mass meeting to be held in the Capitol Park, in Madison, at 2 o'clock p. m., on Wednesday, July 23, for the purpose of appropriately celebrating the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the organization of the Republican party in Wisconsin. It is especially desired that as many as possible of those who participated at the meeting in July, 1854, will be present. Distinguished speakers from this and other States will be secured to address the meeting.

HORACE RUBLEE, Chairman.
R. H. BAKER, CHAS. LUTHER, CHARLES PALMER, W. C. CARTER, E. J. JONES, J. H. FOSTER, S. E. WOODMAN, L. B. SAGE, J. H. WAGGONER, A. A. ARNOLD, E. BOWEN, H. A. TAYLOR, J. R. BRIDGES, J. O. RAYMOND, L. F. FRISBY, S. S. VAUGHN.

Republican State Central Committee, Madison, June 18, 1879.

Someone will do the Democrats of Wisconsin a favor by discovering a statesman in the party in this State.

Jubilees for the Republicans and political funerals for the Democrats, are the prominent events for 1879.

There are hundreds of tramps in Minnesota and Iowa who would rather tramp for nothing than to bind grain at $2.50 a day.

Barr, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, is only thirty-nine years old. So much the better. He can afford to wait for that office. The Republicans will Barr him out this time.

When Thurman, Hendricks, and Bayard read in the Democratic newspapers that Tilden's health is so good that he won't have to go to a summer-resort, they wilt, and look gloomy over the prospects for 1880.

General Garfield, of Ohio, the great Republican leader in the House of Representatives, and a man whom the Republicans throughout the nation delight to honor, will speak at the mass meeting at Madison on Wednesday.

The Madison Democrat seems very much interested in the nomination of "Old Hal," as it calls Mr. Ludington. It wants him nominated for the reason that it thinks the Democrats can beat him, whereas it will be impossible for them to defeat Governor Smith.

The indications are that there will be an immense crowd at the Republican jubilee at Madison on Wednesday. The Republicans are alive all over the State, and will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the party with an enthusiasm and an uprising never before witnessed in the West.

Eighteen years ago to-day was fought the unfortunate battle of Bull Run. Those who took an interest in the war news of those dark days, will not soon forget the gloom and despondency caused on that Sunday night by the intelligence that the Union army had been overwhelmingly defeated. That day has gone into history, and it will be remembered as one of the saddest of the great war for human rights.

There is nothing that will operate against the Greenback party so much as good crops. These will be sure death to the Greenback-Socialistic-Labor-Reform party. This is the reason that Congressman Weaver, of Iowa, expressed the wish a short time ago that every grain of wheat in Iowa be destroyed. He is a Greenbacker, and he well knew that a failure of crops would be capital to the Greenback party. But the prospect for a good harvest is fatal to that party.

The Democrats in Kentucky have found a genuine Bourbon for Governor. His name is Dr. Blackburn, and he is the identical individual who attempted during the war to introduce clothing which was infected with yellow fever, into Northern cities and in the army. The Northern men which Southern cannon and shot guns failed to kill on the field, Dr. Blackburn determined to slay with yellow fever. This is the man whom the Kentucky Democrats glory in running for Governor. He is the Democratic idea of a statesman.

A dispatch from Washington to the Inter Ocean says the reports received by the Internal Revenue Bureau, indicate that the consumption of beer is largely on the increase. The consumption of whisky keeps pace with the growth of population, but beer-drinking is increasing far faster than population. The Internal Revenue department says the consumption of beer is about one million barrels a month. To figure this down to a point at which it can be comprehended, the annual consumption is about eight gallons to every man, woman, and child in the Union.

The Racine Advocate, which is altogether beside itself on the gubernatorial question, says "if Governor Smith had one small moiety of the self-sacrificing spirit manifested by Mr. Ludington two years ago, he would get out of the way instantly." For a newspaper which professes to be fair, independent, and somewhat intelligent, this statement is decidedly cool. Ludington "got out of the way" of his own accord. He refused to be a candidate because he was afraid that he could not be elected, and would rather refuse a nomination than

GARFIELD COMING.

Special to the Gazette.
MILWAUKEE, July 21.—General Garfield, of Ohio, telegraphs that he will be at Madison on Wednesday, and address the great mass meeting. He will not fail to be present.
HORACE RUBLEE.

FISH COMMISSIONER.

Special to the Gazette.
MADISON, July 21.—Governor Smith has appointed C. L. Valentine, of Janesville, a member of the Fish Commission, vice Dr. P. R. Hoy, of Racine, resigned.

FROM MADISON.

Additional Delegates for Smith—Ruble Declines the Chairmanship—Preparing for the Jubilee.

Special to the Gazette.
MADISON, July 21.—The following additional counties have telegraphed the Governor that their delegates are for his re-nomination: St. Croix two, Polk two, Polk Senate District two, Dunn four, Pierce two, making the total figures at the Executive office for Smith one hundred and thirty-nine; Ludington, twenty-four; Independent, five.

There seems to be a general feeling here that Smith will be nominated by acclamation.

It is rumored that Rublee will not accept the Chairmanship, and Ed. Sanderson, Jack Turner, General Atwood and Bob Baker are prominently named as his successors.

General Garfield telegraphs that he will be present at the celebration. He will leave his home in Ohio this evening, and will pass Chicago to-morrow. A large platform is being constructed from the north steps of the Capitol. It is estimated that ten thousand persons will be present from various parts of the State.

THE FEVER.

Ten New Cases in Memphis—Sending the Poor Out of the City—Cairo and St. Louis Quarantine.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 20.—Ten new cases were reported to the Board of Health to-day, as follows: James Whelan, Hiram Athey, J. C. Bierman, Harry Ray, Mrs. B. F. Miller, Henry Miller, Louis Dotto, Fred Lorentz, Clara Bethel, and William Alexander. The two last are colored.

Four persons have died of the fever since last night, to-wit: Hiram Athey, Louis Bramond, James Whelan, Louis Dotto.

There are several other cases of fever in the city which will be reported to the Board of Health to-morrow.

The city authorities are sending poor people out of the city, having made arrangements to get half fare rates over the Louisville and Nashville roads.

Dr. Dudley D. Saunders, acting President of the Board of Health, states that the fever is not so malignant as last year, and yields more rapidly to treatment.

Citizens continue to leave in large numbers.

CAIRO, July 19.—The Cairo Board of Health this morning visited Island No. 1, six miles south of this city, and selected it for the location of a quarantine station, and the work of establishing it under the rules of the National Board of Health will be pushed with vigor.

The train from the South has 180 passengers from Memphis, seventy-five of which are for Chicago. They were all transferred to other cars on the other side of the river, and went through locked cars, guarded to Central, to prevent any from leaving the train.

The people are a little alarmed at the reports from Memphis, but all that can be done will be done to protect the city and State. Dr. Warner and Rauch of the State Board, are here, and Superintendent Jeffries and Beck, of the Illinois Central, arrived this evening.

St. Louis, July 20.—The health authorities decided to-night on putting in force a partial quarantine against Memphis. A corps of physicians and sanitary officers were sent down to quarantine fifteen miles below the city, to stop the Memphis boats, inspect passengers, and make use of disinfectants.

ALMOST A DUEL.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—A dispatch from Alexandria announces great excitement there over a proposed duel between C. J. Sommers, a prominent druggist, and F. A. Howell, first sergeant of the Alexandria Light Infantry. It seems the two had a street quarrel yesterday, resulting in a challenge from the latter to the former, which was promptly accepted. The parties were brought before the mayor last night, and put under bonds to keep the peace.

SILVER DOLLARS.

The Demand for Standard Silver Dollars at the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The demand for standard silver dollars continues at the uniform rate of about $550,000 monthly, a little over one-fourth of the coinage. Treasurer Gillfillan favors paying them out on all indebtedness at the rate of say $5 or $10 to the $100, which would rapidly diminish the stock on hand. The pay roll of the government employees in this city amounts to about $1,500,000 monthly, and 10 per cent of this in the standard dollars would help to reduce the pile, to say nothing of payments by other disbursing officers all over the country. This has been several times suggested to Secretary Sherman, but he does not believe in forcing a creditor to take any particular kind of money unless so directed by Congress, in which case he would apply it to the salaries of Congressmen and all. Ten per cent on the salaries of Congressmen would give them $500 each in silver, which is believed to be as much as any of them want at one time, as the weight would be about thirty two pounds. At the present rate of coinage and sales there will be about $1,000,000 of standard silver dollars in the Treasury when Congress meets. It is believed that this constantly growing pile will inspire the members to make a few hundred speeches on the silver question, leaving the question where they found it, and the silver in the Treasury.

WHIPS HIS FATHER.

WESTFIELD, July 20.—C. H. Booth was this morning arrested and brought before Justice F. Abbott, on complaint of having yesterday pounded and abused his father. The prisoner is about 32 years old, and by economy and sharp bargains he has accumulated about $3,000. He has until lately been held in fair respectability by our town's people, but now it proves that he has been in the habit of striking and abusing his aged and feeble father for no other reason, as he stated under oath, than that his father did not work fast enough, when at the same time it was upon his father's land that the work was being done. Justice Abbott fined the prisoner $25 and costs, immediately upon his paying cost and fine, and committed him to jail to await removal before Justice Fuller for the same offense committed on the 10th inst. If this suit results in giving the prisoner the full benefit of the statute in such cases made and provided, then prosecution will cease for the present. If not then there will be other suits commenced forthwith, as it is the determination of the good people of Westfield that there must be a stop put to this kind of conduct.

A CANDIDATE.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Joshua Hill, of Georgia, formerly United States Senator, is among the Southern candidates mentioned for the position made vacant on the District Bench here by the death of Judge Humphreys. Mr. Hill was an old-line Whig, a member of Congress before the war, a Union man during the war, and a Republican United States Senator after the war.

SUICIDAL.

ELGIN, Ill., July 20.—The wife of M. N. Marshall attempted to commit suicide by cutting her throat with a razor this forenoon while her husband was at church. The windpipe was not severed but the injury may prove serious. Temporary insanity caused by long sickness is given as the motive.

THE BUFORD TRIAL.

OWENTON, Ky., July 19.—In the Buford trial, Colonel Philip Thompson opened this morning in behalf of the prisoner. He will be followed this afternoon by General Rodman for the State. The impression generally is that Buford will not hang.

OBITUARY.

FOND DU LAC, July 20.—William Reup-ing a wealthy and prominent business man of this city, died to-day at one o'clock. He was at the head of the firm of Reup-ing & Sons, tanners.

Southern Profits From the Rise of Cotton.

Atlanta, Georgia, Constitution.

We think our people hardly appreciate the amount of money that has been made in the South by the recent flurry in cotton speculations. There is scarcely a village that does not furnish its man who has made from $5,000 to $100,000.

San Rice, of Montgomery, probably leads the list with a cool $300,000; but there are several, two at least, in Savannah, and one in Rome, who are said to have made from $50,000 to $100,000. Albany furnishes a modest dealer who picked up $52,500. In Savannah almost every dealer, or hundreds of dealers, made large sums.

The Augusta News is authority for the statement that a man who didn't make as much as $5,000 is kicked out of the Exchange. We know of one railroad man who cleared $1,000 without knowing he had any sort of chance, and of one newspaper man who wished to make $350,000. The gains in New Orleans are immense, and being said that that city piled in $10,000,000 in cool cash. One of the fine features of all this gain, by the way, is that it comes in cash, and is paid without any long delays.

As to Atlanta, we are hardly able to say positively what she cleared. It is certain that a great many have made money in snug quantities, but we hear little reports of some persons who have also lost money, though no serious amount. The Augusta News is authority for the statement that the Atlanta people who "made by the late rise will go to Europe to spend their gains—all except Mr. Jer Rucker, who says that New Holland is good enough for him.

The cotton dealers of the South never closed a season in such fine spirits or so well filled with the "needful." They are in better condition than ever before, and we only hope that their good luck will not make them so adventurous that their spoils will find their way to Wall street. We are inclined to think that it's a good time to "jump the game."

THE GIRL FOR ME.

Give me the girl whose heart is love,
Whose mind is full of thought,
Who lives mid holy things above
What money ever bought.
About her form and face I care
Not what the world may say,
The measure of her life's to bear
My mortal life away:
For love has sent and thought has wing,
To guide this journey o'er,
Beyond the words that poets sing,
In all their mystic lore.

Give me the girl whose brow denotes,
She struggles day by day,
To rise above the silly goats,
That throng her mortal way:
Her voice as tender as the breeze,
Her eyes as summer sky,
Her presence shady as the trees,
When torrid zones are nigh;
Her life forever sweet and green,
Above what eye can see,
Without a single mortal dream—
O that's the girl for me.

Who cares for things of earth and time,
With all their splendor hue—
I drink her love's enchanting wine,
As drinks the sun the dew;
She walks upon the mighty arch,
That spans this world afar
To that beyond, in glorious march,
As brilliant as a star.
While others think of wealth and time,
How grand on earth to be,
Shereads the sky, its every line—
O that's the girl for me!

And if her locks grow gray and fair,
"They brighten still to me,"
And if her cheeks some wrinkles share,
"They're sweeter still to me;
And should her loving eye grow dim,
"Her look is dearer still,
For heaven is lifting her within
By angel's gentle skill.
O yes, she beautifies with age,
From all that's earthly free,
To act on some diviner stage—
O that's the girl for me.
July, 1879.

The Wholesome Service of Pinafore.

August Atlantic.

Among the good things which have been said of Pinafore, I have seen no reference to what is to me its most wholesome service. I refer to the fact that the so-called Moody and Sankey hymns have been by it remained to their proper place,—light fancies and trivial touches and frolicsome moods finding in an simpler and more congenial vehicle of delivery than the "revival" strains of former years. This sentiment is put forth timidly, but must conscientiously, and, lest the Atlantic's reputation should not be sufficient to float it, let me hasten to support it by declaring that it has been tentatively exhibited here and there in the most orthodox latitudes with approval. I could even quote the vehemently cordial assent of a most revered bishop, whom all men, dissenters though they be, delight to honor, did not a story which he told me at the same time (and whoever may doubt his claim to the crossier, none will deny his supremacy as story-teller) remind me that the very illustriousness of such an advocate might ruin my cause in some quarters. Here is the story: Two women were overheard discussing family affairs at a watering place last summer. One was a Unitarian, and the other the sect of the bishop, with pronounced courtesy, declined to "give a name to" in that audience. The son of the Unitarian had recently become engaged to marry "a church girl," and on inquiry the nameless secretary found that the prospective mother-in-law approved the match. "Yes, sister Jones, she really does seem to be a nice girl, and I don't know as John could have done better." Silence reigned for some minutes, to be broken finally by John's voice, demanding in tones deepened and muffled to becoming solemnity, "Is she—pious?" John's mother obviously winced and writhed under this home thrust, but at last rallied sufficiently to stammer out, "Well—she's Pinafore!"

So, leaving "the bishop and other clergy, and the congregations committed to their charge," as those who in this life, at least, can never hope to rise superior to a qualified pioussness, I betook myself to what they call "dissenters," to find there, too, only unanimous assent to my Pinafore proposition. The stricter the sect (and this is particularly significant) the more active in Christian service among all classes, and therefore the more sensitive to the incomparable value of spiritual songs at proper times and in proper places, there was found the most hearty rejoicing at the decrease in the use of the so-called "revival hymns" as a mere explosive for thought, vacant minds, and exuberant spirits. The only question raised was as to the cause of this decrease, and the interviewed, with scarcely an exception, instantly recognized in Pinafore, when suggested, with its innocent substitutes, a means of grace to be warmly welcomed by every devotedly reverent soul.

THE FEAR OF LIGHTNING.

Hints that May Be of Advantage to Those Whose Dread is Now Uncontrollable.

From the New York Sun.
The painful story in last Monday's papers of two happy children killed while sitting in their garden seat under a tree by a stroke of lightning, will deepen the horror of those who suffer from fear of lightning. The most agonizing of all nervous fears is that of lightning, and account of those whose lives are really embittered by this dread would number scores of thousands, many of them persons who know no other fear.

Twenty years ago the writer remembers turning with a smile to others who shrank and cried at the peals of a terrible storm in a country house. The glare of a bolt coming down the center of the room, and the eye at that very instant; the next was an explosion that shook the house, and insensibility followed. Two men in the same room were burned by the same bolt, though no lives were lost; but I have never been able to smile at lightning again. To give an idea of the terror left on a nervous organization by the shock would involve extraneous details.

But, unfortunately, so far from being an exception, there are too many who suffer the same harassments with me. Nor are women alone subject to this nervousness. I knew a school superintendent and canal contractor, a man over 50, with a large family, who would hide in a closet in a storm, and had been known to rush from his bed with fright at lightning. Many will remember the Professor at Bowdoin College who always retreated to the cellar in a thunder-storm, although his house was bristling with lightning rods. The strongest man I ever knew, who could throw another man across the street, and work a hand-press in a printing office as if he were a part of the machine, was discharged as a reporter because his desk was vacant every time there was a thunder-storm. The mother of Washington was afraid of lightning, and never failed to retreat to her room at the first flash of a storm, where she stayed until the last flash died away. The physical effects of this fear are most depressing. One woman knows when a storm is coming hours before, by a prostration of strength and spirits, accompanied with symptoms like cholera. One of the most dauntless young women I know was sick in bed for hours after the great storm in Springfield, Mass., last month. She had received a shock of lightning years before, and never failed to be ill in a thunder-storm since.

Reason and study of the laws of lightning have done much to lessen the fear of it. It is true we live between two magazines of electricity—one in the earth and the other in the air—and a cloud charged with electricity passing over a point or body in a negative condition will discharge its surplus by the very quickest and most congenial medium, which it finds in the human body, a tree, or house indifferently. But it is also true that, provide the lightning with a convenient and easy conductor, in the shape of a stout iron rod higher than any point of a house, and reaching well into the ground, where electricity may scatter harmlessly in the damp earth, it will prefer that conducting rod to any in its vicinity, and people who stay indoors in a well-constructed house are safer from lightning than any bomb proof from bursting shells. Every accident from this cause I ever knew of came from careless exposure in situations known to be unsafe. The first I noticed my own accident was that of a missionary's daughter killed while passing an open window, just as a woman was on Long Island, last summer, while sitting at a party of women, out-picking berries on one of the high hills, crowded into a deserted log hut in a sudden storm, and seven were killed by one bolt. Steep hills with mineral veins cropping out are not places for any one to live on who wishes to escape lightning, and unprotected houses there are doubly dangerous.

It is never too soon to go in the house when a storm is rising. When the clouds are fully charged with electricity they are most dangerous, and the fluid obeys a most subtle attraction which acts at great distances and in all directions. A woman told me of a bolt which came to her mother's chimney from a rising cloud when the sun was shining overhead. N. P. Willis writes of a young girl killed while passing under a telegraph wire on the brow of a hill, while she was hurrying home before a storm. Saturday's accident at Morrisania should warn every mother that it is not safe to let children stay out of doors till the last minute before the storm falls. People should not be foolishly about sitting on porches or by open windows, whether the storm is hard or not. Mild showers often carry a single charge which falls with deadly effect. It may or may not be fatal to stay out, it is safe to be in the house with the windows and doors shut. The dry air in a house is a reader conductor of lightning than the damp air outside, and any draught of air invites it. A hot fire in a chimney attracts it, so to speak, and it is prudent for those who would be sure of safety to use kerosene or gas stoves in summer, and avoid heating the chimneys of the house. People are very ignorant or reckless about lightning. I have seen a girl of 18 crying with fear of lightning, and running every other moment to the window to see if the storm was not abating, unconscious that she was putting herself in danger. If every one would hurry to shelter as soon as the storm cloud was seen, and stay in the house, the fear of lightning would be a thing of reason and not of impression.

A good lightning rod is one that is thick enough to carry a heavy charge of electricity, not less than three-fourths of an inch in diameter, which has a point above each chimney or pinnacle of the roof, joining the main rod by curves, not angles, and running into the ground down to permanent moist soil. It should be held by glass insulators fixed in blocks of wood, held to the house by wooden pegs, not spiked to the wall, to give possible connection with the interior. Any blacksmith can put up a rod which will be perfect protection, and it should not cost over $12 for a house forty feet square and two stories high. When accidents happen to a house with lightning rods it is because the rod is too small, or not rightly attached, or the ground connection is not good. The ignorance and carelessness habitual to the American on all points not immediately connected with his amusement or money-making, are fatal to such exact conditions as insure safety from lightning. It was exemplified in the case of a friend, who, afraid of lightning, sent half the summer in a new rented house with a stout rod, till one day, happening to look at the ground connection, he found it rusted in two just above the soil, and a hundred times more dangerous than no rod at all.

So far from lightning being a danger most difficult to avoid, it has very simple laws, and may be almost entirely guarded against by proper conductors. Witness the British navy, which met 500 disasters a year by lightning, till the ships were provided with conductors, by which the fatalities were reduced to fifty, among ships in the tropics, exposed to violent storms, and these may be fairly charged to carelessness in regard to the conductors.

AN AMERICAN PLAY.

It Oozes at Last From a San Francisco Brain.

Below is a plot for a five-act play. Boucicault would charge $5,000 for a plot like it. But all we care for is the regeneration of the drama. If we have caused even one struggling soul to beat with a purer and higher aspiration, it will be incited even a single person in the gallery to lead a better and nobler life, we are all too well rewarded.

A fascinating young professor of phrenology had his head shaved and mapped out into two lots in order to illustrate his lectures with a live model. These squares are picked with figures and pictures illustrative of different passions and motives. Rich miner comes to have his bumps felt and exhibits containing several millions in gold dust. Professor mesmerizes miner, drives a tack into his bump of memory, and flees to foreign lands. The victim, like all miners, never combs his hair, and so the tack remains undiscovered while he wanders abroad, supposed to be crazy and begging his bread. Meanwhile the phrenologist endeavors to change his appearance, but the tack on his head being picked out in India ink it refuses to be obliterated. Hence he lets his hair grow and starts out to paralyze all Europe as a sort of American Monte Christo. Meanwhile the heroine, who has been drifting around during the foregoing scenes with lots of good clothes on, marries the miner, and the very first yank she gives him after the honeymoon out comes the tack, which at once restores his memory. The couple at once begin their hunt for the villain, who is doing the bonanza business on the continent under an assumed name. After a weary search through Europe and the third and fourth acts the miner begins to think that all about him is a vast conspiracy to ruin him. He goes out on the Pope; and so proceeds to Rome and enlists in the Swiss guards, who are always on duty during receptions at the Vatican. In the last act the Pope enters and begins to "recep." Hats off! howls the captain of the guards to the usual gang of velvet vested Americans who are eating peanuts and talking stocks on one side of the room. All comply but one. The captain details the new recruit to knock this one down with his halberd. To avoid being hammered as specified the obstinate individual reluctantly takes off his hat. He had considerable hair on his head, however, and the miner is again disheartened. When the Pope passes by the rude stranger, instead of bowing low like the rest of the line, simply says "Howdy, Puss" without bending his head. This again excites the avenger's suspicion and he goes out on tip-toe, returning presently from P. U. C. with a step ladder, which he softly places against a pillar behind the suspected man and then climbs up to have a bird's eye view of the top of his head. In a small bald spot in the center he beholds a blue square marked "No. 46, combativeness," and a picture of two prize-fighters. "At last!" shrieks the miner, jumping down on the prisoner's head with his boots, and the play ends with the villain being dragged off to execution, while the whole company dances in front of the foot-lights as the curtain goes down, with the calcium on the miner in the center.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

INSTANTLY RELIEVES.

6,000 FEET ABOVE THE SEA.

The following testimonials are from Messrs. J. O. Bosworth & Co., Denver, Col., large and influential druggists. They report unreservedly that Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh is the best remedy for this disease in the world. They speak of the following gentlemen as among their best customers:

SORELY AFFLICTED.

J. O. Bosworth & Co., Denver, Col., Gentlemen:—Prompted by a fellow-sufferer for those afflicted with Catarrh, I wish to add my testimony in behalf of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. I have been afflicted with this disease for four years, and have tried every known remedy without avail, until I bought a bottle of the above cure from you, which gave me almost instant relief. It being a constitutional as well as a local remedy, I believe it to be all that is claimed for it, a Radical Cure for Catarrh.

GREATLY AFFLICTED.

Messrs. J. O. Bosworth & Co., Denver, Col., Gentlemen:—I take pleasure in recommending SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH to all who are afflicted with this disease. I was greatly afflicted with it for four years, and I tried every known remedy without avail, until I bought a bottle of the above cure from you, which gave me almost instant relief. It being a constitutional as well as a local remedy, I believe it to be all that is claimed for it, a Radical Cure for Catarrh.

TRIED EVERYTHING.

Messrs. J. O. Bosworth & Co., Denver, Col., Gentlemen:—I have used SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH, and it has given perfect satisfaction. I have tried almost everything, and it is the only thing that has given me relief. I take pleasure in recommending it to all who are afflicted with Catarrh of any kind, and offer this as my testimony to its benefit.

REV. J. H. WIGGIN SAYS:

One of the best remedies for Catarrh, nay, the best remedy we have found in a lifetime of suffering, is SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. It is not unpleasant to take, through the nostrils, and there comes with each bottle a small glass tube for use in inhalation. It clears the head and throat so thoroughly that the patient can breathe freely, and there are no unpleasant secretions and no disagreeable hacking during the entire day, but an unimpeded clearness of voice and respiratory organs.

—Rev. J. H. Wiggin, in Forbes's Monthly.

THE JANEVILLE GAZETTE.

Dr. V. CLARENCE PRICE Visited Janesville EIGHTEEN YEARS.

HAS met with unparalleled success in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases

THROAT, LUNGS, HEART, STOMACH, LIVER.

Head, nerves, kidneys, bladder, womb, and blood affections of the urinary organs, gravel, scrofula, hematuria, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, dyspepsia, &c.

Dr. Price's reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice is one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and abundance of success. It does not tear down, but makes sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattery. We know the cause and the remedy needs no guess work, but knowledge gained of years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a proper case. In our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailments, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

DR. V. CLARENCE PRICE Can be consulted at JANEVILLE, MYERS HOUSE, Saturday and Sunday, the 20th and 27th of July, 1879.

Patients will address all letters to Dr. V. Clarence Price, Waukegan, Ill., with stamp. Jan24daw1y
